URG Senior Congregate Meal Program Suspended

After serious consideration of Governor DeWine's recommendations and orders concerning COVID-19 (coronavirus), the decision has been made to suspend the senior congregate meal program at the University of Rio Grande. The university has put their initial response plan into action and while the dining room will be open for those students who rely on that service, the Area Agency on Aging District 7 (AAA7), that funds the program, has made the decision to suspend the meals until further notice. The senior population is known to be one of the most vulnerable to the virus with severe consequences. The AAA7 has made this decision for the concern of the health for seniors who attend the site. If you have questions, please contact the Area Agency on Aging District 7 at 1-800-582-7277.
